

ABOUT US

With over 30 years experience in supplying temporary, contract & permanent staff for major engineering and technical organisations, our innovative approach and dedicated commitment to find the best possible resourcing solutions for our clients has helped us build long term relationships. As a preferred supplier to many of the UK's largest engineering companies, we have developed a wealth of experience in recruiting all levels of personnel for complete projects and individual assignments.

Our areas of expertise include contingency recruitment (temporary/contract and permanent) and resource management.

We focus on accurately matching our clients' requirements on every occasion, via the most tailored and specific recruitment software system available. This ensures we provide a fast, efficient and accurate sourcing solution to all our clients - helping you to fulfill your staffing requirements as well as delivering cost efficiencies.

The Danny Sullivan Group values both its staff and its customers. By partnering the link between the two and by providing opportunities for all, then through teamwork, "together we achieve the extraordinary."
